OUR LONDON LETTER.

EMPIRE EXHIBITION VISITORS AND HOTEL ACCOMMODATION.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

LONDON, February 21st.

SCARE-MONGERS AND THE EXHIBITION.

There are times when it seems a pity that there are no means of controlling the "stunt" newspapers. They are always on top near, as a motorist might say. One would suppose after reading many of the effusions published of late about the expected invasion of London next summer by visitors from all parts of the world to the Empire Exhibition that the sensation-mongers wanted to "quench the pitch." An effort has been made to create a scare as to no room being available for the hundreds of thousands of visitors, who are expected to be within our gates from the end of April onwards.

As a matter of fact the hotel managers of London have laid their plans most carefully, and in cases where a shortage of accommodation is feared additional bedrooms have been engaged in the vicinity of their buildings. There has been talk of bringing steamers up the Thames to provide sleeping berths for the Empire Exhibition visitors. It makes an attractive kind of paragraph in the papers, but it is founded on no basis at all. No expedients of this description are likely to be needed, for after everything is said London is a big place, and a few hundred thousand visitors will not make much difference to a city of seven million people. The attitude of hotel managers may be expressed in the familiar London vernacular, "Let 'em all come!"

LOCAL OPTION.

The stage was carefully set for the debate on the Welsh Local Option Bill in the House of Commons, but in spite of the strenuous efforts of the teetotalers the measure was defeated on a vote of 120 members by a majority of 28. It is common knowledge that the Local Optionists while crying they are all for democratic methods, and want to let every locality say whether it will go "dry" where alcohol is concerned, are in reality out for Prohibition. Local Option is merely a stepping stone, and as it has proved a costly and disappointing failure in Scotland the attempt was made to force a Bill upon Wales. After Wales it would be the turn of dear old England.

Anyone who has watched the manoeuvres of the teetotalers over a series of years must have quite definitely seen that nothing short of total Prohibition will satisfy them. They are always letting the cat out of the bag, and it happened in the debate over the Welsh Local Option Bill. The measure was not, however, defeated on this account, but for political reasons. The Labour party are no more in favour of meddling with the working man's beer than Conservatives or Liberals were when in power. The average Labour M.P., like the average Conservative M.P., knows very well that any vote he gives in favour of further restrictions on the sale of alcohol is bound to offend more of his constituents than it will please. And being a member of fact person with a natural desire to keep his seat in Parliament he votes accordingly.

A HAPPY THOUGHT.

There are just now fifty lucky and very happy lads, who are being selected by the Young Australia League to come over to London on a visit to the British Empire Exhibition. The programme mapped out on their behalf is most attractive. It is in the hands of a Committee of influential Australians in London. The young visitors are to be shown, in addition to the Exhibition, places of interest round London. They are to be guests at the Football Cup final at Wembley. They will be taken to the Derby, to the tennis tournaments at Wimbledon, and some of the classic matches at Lords. This is an excellent itinerary for the young Australians, but it does not end there, as a number of Australian business men are planning a series of visits to provincial centres, including Manchester and Liverpool. One can imagine the whole boyhood of Australia clamouring to be selected for the trip to England.

THE PRINCE'S ACCIDENT.

I hear that it is understood by those in close attendance on the Court that the Prince of Wales has been severely taken to task by his Royal parents over his recent accident in the hunting field. The King and Queen have been anxious for a long time past about the adventures of the Prince while hunting and also in connection with cross-country racing. It is felt that he is inclined to take too many risks. Now, as a result of the representations made to him on the subject it is understood that he has definitely promised to curtail his activities in this respect. There can be no doubt that if His Royal Highness has given this promise it will be a source of real satisfaction throughout the country.

SUMMER TIME.

A strong effort will be made to obtain some definite measure of agreement over the Summer Time Bill which will be produced on April 11th by Sir Kingsley Wood, the Parliamentary Secretary of the Early Closing Association. As a preliminary it is hoped to arrange a conference between representatives of France, Belgium, and Great Britain to settle, if possible, the date when Summer Time should commence and end. Last year the Continental countries in question were working by the clock altered in accordance with the provisions of Summer time. This led to all sorts of trying experiences in business relations and in travelling from here to France and Belgium, and vice versa.

The new proposal is to make it a rule to observe Summer Time from the first Sunday in April till the first Sunday in October, and I understand that this will be the basis of the proposed agreement.

The only serious objection anywhere to Summer Time comes from the farming community; but this opposition will be overcome somehow, for the arrangement has proved a boon and a blessing to countless numbers of workers in cities and towns.

OFFENCES AGAINST THE PERSON.

NEW BILL AND DEATH PENALTY.

The new measure, "Offences Against the Person Bill," which has been presented by Mr. Ammon, and supported by Mr. Griffiths, Miss Bondfield, Mr. Wignall, Mr. Morgan Jones, and Miss Lawrence, has been issued. A memorandum states that the objects of the bill are to consolidate the principal Act of 1861 and other Statutes, and to declare and amend the law of murder and the law of rape.

Criminal homicide, it is stated, is not to amount to murder except either there was intention to kill the deceased or some other person, or there was intention to cause bodily harm, certain or likely to cause death, accompanied by indifference or recklessness whether death ensued or not. Infanticide by a mother is to amount to manslaughter if she has not fully recovered from the mental effects of the birth. The Infanticide Act, 1922, is to be repealed. Murder committed by a person of 16 or upwards is to be punishable with a fixed sentence of penal servitude for life. Where, however, the offender is already undergoing penal servitude for life, the penalty is to be death. As regards persons under 16, the present provisions of the Children Act, 1908, are to continue in force.

The maximum term of penal servitude which can be imposed for any offence under the bill other than criminal homicide, or an attempt to murder, is ten years, and no person under the age of 19 is to be liable to be sentenced to any term of penal servitude for any such offence other than criminal homicide, an attempt to murder, or wounding with intent to do grievous bodily harm. The bill does not authorise the infliction of corporal punishment, and the Gaoler's Act, 1863, is repealed.

The law with respect to sexual offences is revised, and the age of consent is raised to 18 years. The procurement of women and girls is more drastically dealt with. In certain circumstances the crime is made a felony, punishable with penal servitude for five years, or, if the girl is under 16, with penal servitude for ten years. Boys under 18 are protected as respects sexual immorality from women of or over that age. Under the bill the law as to concealment of birth has been revised, and a court of summary jurisdiction will be able to deal summarily with a woman who pleads guilty where the offence is in relation to her own child and she is not jointly charged with any person. The punishment for incest is reduced, the maximum being five years, except where a girl is under 14, when it is penal servitude for ten years. The maximum penalty for rape is ten years, and for an attempt to commit the offence five years.

HOW TO GET GOOD SERVICE FROM MICHELIN TYRES.

Keep tyres pumped up to correct pressure for the load they have to carry. We can tell you what this should be.

When tyres are under inflated there is continual internal friction between the foundation cord and the rubber, causing overheating of the tyre and consequent rapid deterioration.

Water can also enter causing rust, resulting eventually in the rims having sharp edges which cut the walls of the tyre near the bead.

Most cars in Hongkong run on under inflated tyres with the above disastrous results.

Have your wheels examined front and rear for trueness and tracking alignment. If they are at fault in this respect the tread of the cover is subject to a grinding action which quickly destroys the cover.

Keep tyres free from oil and grease.

Start and stop gently and take corners slowly.

Lastly buy MICHELIN tyres from us and follow the above advice and tyre satisfaction is assured.

CHAMBER OF SHIPPING OF THE UNITED KINGDOM.

QUESTION OF STATE AID.

OUTLOOK FOR WORLD TRADE.

The forty-seventh annual general meeting of the Chamber of Shipping of the United Kingdom was held on February 22nd at the Leathersellers' Hall, St. Helen's place, London, E.C.

Sir Alan G. Anderson, K.B.E., was elected president for the ensuing year and Sir Norman Hill, Bt., was appointed vice-president.

The new president, in the course of his address, said that the depression which began so suddenly in 1920 still prevailed. With all respect, however, to the opinion expressed a year ago by Sir Ernest Glover, his (Sir Alan's) view was that there was a definite bottom to the abyss of bad freights, and that they had now touched bottom. When laying-up point was reached freights would not drop further unless expenses fell, and freights in 1923 only fell 1 per cent. below those of 1922, because on the average of the year there was a small drop in expenses. There had been, and still was, a redundant fleet of vessels in all countries, ready at short notice to put to sea when freights rose, and, by flooding the market, to bring about an immediate relapse of freights. The world's tonnage last up in July, 1922, exceeded 9,400,000 tons gross, and in July, 1923, 8,400,000 tons gross. The tonnage laid up in the United Kingdom was coming into service rather more rapidly; it had fallen from 1,500,000 tons gross in January, 1923, to 1,000,000 tons gross in January, 1924. In the late autumn of 1923 there were some signs of an improvement in the general trade of the world and in the demand for tonnage, but the world's tonnage was still far in excess of the world's business.

After so long a depression one's eyes got used to gloom, and possibly for that reason it was easier to see a few more spots of light on the horizon than a year ago. As a whole, the British mercantile marine had up to date weathered the storm with extraordinarily few casualties, and, without wishing to appear too hopeful or to encourage anyone to speculate on an early return to prosperity, there was evidence that their position was not so bad as that they had been led to believe by the media of publicity. Their assets had suffered no sharp decline during the year; in fact, the cost of new tonnage touched bottom in the autumn of 1922, and had shown a tendency to rise, but the orders which had come to shipbuilding during the year were mostly for liners or special services, and few for "free" cargo vessels of the ordinary type.

Speaking of surplus tonnage, which was one of the two main factors governing freights, it was interesting to note that up to last year 7,500,000 tons or 12 per cent. of the world's tonnage was over twenty-five years old, and that 4,500,000 tons, or over 7 per cent. of the world's tonnage, consisted of ships built in the U.S.A. during the war which were now laid up; the U.S. Government had been advised that the greater part of these ships could not ever engage in commerce with success. The returns of laid-up tonnage, therefore, were not quite so formidable as they seemed at first, and individual shipowners had learnt to their cost that the sooner they broke up an obsolete and unprofitable ship the less money they lost, so he hoped they might without impropriety suggest to the owners of this immense mass of obsolete or unsuitable tonnage that they would be doing not only the world but themselves a service if they gave full employment to the shipbuilders.

He noted that in their last days the late Government started lending money to shipowners or shipbuilders on easy terms in order to bring about employment in shipbuilding centres. While sympathising with the anxiety of shipbuilders, masters and men, he felt sure that the best-informed among them would agree that it was dangerous to apply this artificial stimulant to the shipbuilding trade in its present condition. If shipbuilders and shipowners were left to work out their own salvation according to the economic laws, the orders for ships would gradually increase, beginning with special steamers, and extending as owners gained the impression that the time of lowest prices was going past; but if shipowners, who had had such severe lessons of bad trade, due to an excess of ships in the world, gained the impression that their business was to be made a cockpit for non-economic Government activities, it seemed probable that every ship that was built before its time by Government action would postpone a dozen or more other orders which would otherwise have been placed if the Government had kept quiet. At present 1,000,000 tons of our ships were idle and 25,000 of our seamen. Every economy in working every improvement in design of ships, every removal of an unnecessary restriction on trade, brought nearer the good time of full employment of men and ships. Every disturbance of industry, every additional expense thrown on sea transport, postponed such recovery. Our seamen and our ships would be fully employed when the world ceased to quarrel and settled down to trade. In speaking of labour these present would wish him, he thought, to give their welcome to the first Labour Government.

Shipowners in the management of their business had to accommodate the divergent views of capital, labour, and their customers. They settled somehow with capital and their customers without disturbing the general industry of the country. When capital embarked in ships, for example, had to forego its return, as had unfortunately happened so often during the last three years, it might be difficult to raise fresh capital for similar shipping investments, but other industries could borrow as freely as before on their merits. When their customers complained about the conditions of carriage of freights, shipowners contrived to satisfy them without pulling down the pillars of the temple of British trade. But when a difference arose about wages in one section of one trade—as, for example, the drivers of locomotives or dock labourers—the whole of British industry paid forfeit. Capital, labour, and their customers all had a common interest in the success of our overseas trade, but that success was gravely imperilled by the present method of settling wages in British industry. We had left behind us settlement by sectional strike, and we had not reached settlement by reason. We might be permitted to hope that the Labour Government, with its special knowledge, would help us forward in the right direction.

INTERNATIONAL TRADE.

He had spoken first of the surplus tonnage, because it was the one of the two main factors governing the freight market about which they had positive knowledge. The other factor was the world's business. While signs existed that in the great nation of ours and in the world trade had touched bottom and was beginning to improve, and while we might hope that a financial adjustment might bring about a swift recovery in other great communities which were at present practically excluded from the world's trade by bankruptcy, the health of international trade was still precarious. If the patient were left to himself he should pull through, but if an attempt were made to hasten this recovery by strong medicines or magical panaceas, a dangerous relapse must be expected. Shipowners who had had such hard experience from time to time of the irruption of Governments of various nations into trade would unite in hoping that the Governments of the world would endeavour to arrange the finances for international trade—so set the stage—and would then leave international commerce to work out the result. (Cheers.)

Sir Frederick W. Lewis, Bt., proposed a resolution expressing appreciation of the steps taken to improve port facilities throughout the country, and the hope that immediate effect would be given by the Port Authorities to the suggestions made to this end, and urging that every effort should be made still further to reduce port dues, charges, and expenses. He said it was rather humiliating for shipowners of the greatest shipping country in the world to see the criticisms which had been made on the existing facilities and conditions in our ports, and the consequent expense and time occupied in discharge, as compared with the ports of our Continental neighbours—criticisms which, were, of course, confirmed by their own experience. They also felt that there might be cases where the Government could render help by grant or loans.

The resolution was seconded by Mr. David Jones, J.P., and carried unanimously.

Sir Ernest Glover, Bt., moved a resolution expressing the opinion that his Majesty's Government should seek to secure confirmation by Parliament of the resolutions, for which their predecessors jointly with the Dominion representatives were responsible, passed at the recent Imperial Economic Conference. He said that if, after such elaborate arrangements had been discussed, and after mutual agreement had been arrived at, a change of Government should involve the cancellation of everything, it seemed to him that our kindred overseas would in future regard it as a pure waste of time to come here to discuss business.

The resolution was seconded by Sir Kenneth Anderson, Bt., K.C.M.G., and passed unanimously. Further resolutions were passed welcoming the movement for international co-operation among business organisations with a view to securing the weight being given to business views in the consideration by Governments of different countries of economic and commercial questions; expressing appreciation of the action of his Majesty's Government in obtaining the insertion in the Finance Act, 1923, of a provision enabling them to effect reciprocal arrangements with foreign Governments for the exemption of shipping profits from income-tax; and also, with regard to the desirability of securing a greater measure of international uniformity in general average practice.

FOOTBALL.

EAST SURREY REG'T WINS THE CHALLENGE SHIELD.

In the replay on Saturday the Surrey made one change, Humberstone replacing Phillips. Muir was absent from the Kowloon team, Hayes making up the eleven. The ground was heavy, and good football was hardly expected considering the conditions. However, both teams adapted themselves to the slippery ground and the game was fast and interesting. The covered stand was packed but there were very few spectators on the uncovered stand. The teams lined up as follows:—

East Surrey:—Douglas, Cooper and Williams; Petter, Boniface and Bristow; Charlesworth, Eaton, Woodbridge, Humberstone and Macklesworth.

Kowloon:—Duncan, Wheeler and Knight; Turner, McElvie and H. Wheeler; Latham, Roberts, Hayes, Nash and Mason.

The Surrey kicked off but Kowloon pressed first and Douglas conceded a corner. The flagkick was cleared. Mason terminated the Kowloon attack by kicking past the goalmouth. McElvie effected a good clearance at the other end, but the soldiers kept up pressure until Boniface kicked behind. Latham was very dangerous on the right and made a fine run down the wing, his centre being cleared by Douglas. At the other end, Woodbridge tried a long shot which went behind. Kowloon resumed the attack and Roberts sent in a good shot from twenty yards which just missed the goal. Hayes had a good chance but missed from close range. Cooper mis-kicked and let in Mason who drove in a hot shot which was well saved by Douglas. Kowloon forced two corners, but both were abortive. The Surrey made a brief attack but Kowloon were soon back again. Hayes secured from near the half-way line and made a splendid run through the Surrey defence. He beat three men in fine style but, with only Douglas to beat, he shot wide, missing the best chance of scoring that Kowloon had. Eaton was fouled but the Surrey's pressure was brief. At the other end Roberts sent in a fine first time drive from Mason's centre. Douglas fumbled the ball, but recovered well and kicked clear. Eaton at the other end drove in a fine shot which hit the side of the net. Knight gave away a free kick just outside the penalty area, but Eaton shot high over. Hayes terminated a Kowloon attack by shooting wide. Hands against Wheeler placed the Kowloon goal in danger. From the free kick Eaton received on the right and sent in a high dropping shot which Duncan turned into his own goal in attempting to clear, putting the soldiers one goal up.

Kowloon made good efforts to get on level terms, Mason forcing a corner but Williams cleared well. McElvie sent in a good long shot from a free kick. Cooper headed the ball away. Mason forced another corner and Williams made a spectacular clearance. McElvie tried another long shot which Douglas held well. The Surrey broke away and Humberstone sent in a fine shot which was well held by Duncan. Halftime arrived with the Surrey leading by the only goal scored.

Kowloon were rather unlucky to be in arrears at this period, but faulty shooting and good goalkeeping by Douglas had prevented them from scoring. Kowloon pressed from the re-start and Cooper was forced to concede a corner through dribbling too much. Latham sent the flagkick behind. Turner tried a long shot which Douglas fumbled; he attempted to throw the ball clear but it fell to the feet of Hayes, who made the scores level with a fine left foot shot which gave the goalkeeper no chance. Eaton was fouled rather obviously and Boniface sent in a fine shot from the free kick which was well held by Duncan. McElvie tried a shot at the other end which was saved well by Douglas. Knight was hurt in a tackle and had to leave the field. Macklesworth tested Duncan with a good ground shot. Knight came on at outside left but was compelled to go off again and Kowloon had to play with ten men for the rest of the game. The Surrey did most of the pressing but McElvie relieved and tried a shot at the other end, Douglas saving. Mason fouled Cooper but Wheeler effected a fine clearance. Wheeler made a bad miskick just afterwards but recovered and kicked out. Roberts got through at the other end and Douglas, fumbling the shot at first, recovered and kicked out. From a corner Hayes drove in a fine shot which was headed clear by a defender. Boniface was injured but was able to resume. Humberstone gave Eaton a good chance but the latter shot wildly. Wheeler gave away a penalty through handling the ball. Eaton took the kick and sent it well towards the right-hand corner of the goal, but Duncan, with splendid anticipation, brought off the save of the day by diving full length for the ball and turning it round the post. Kowloon made good attempts to score, but with only four forwards could not get within shooting distance.

Full time arrived with the scores level, and again extra time was necessary. A draw at this stage was quite a good result. The Surrey had been the more dangerous team but Kowloon had had quite their share of the game, in fact they had been doing rather more attacking than the soldiers.

The extra time went all in favour of the soldiers. Kowloon were played out and the Surrey scored two goals in the first ten minutes. Duncan made a mistake in running out on one occasion, and the Surrey nearly scored. Wheeler, however, cleared. The Surrey took the lead through Humberstone, who received from Eaton and scored a fine goal with a shot well into the corner of the net. Kowloon pressed but Latham's centre was cleared well by Douglas. Nash had a good chance but kicked wide. The Surrey pressed hard again and Humberstone scored the third goal after running clean through the defence. Kowloon made good efforts after this but failed to beat the Surrey defence, and the game ended with the soldiers winning by three goals to one.

The better team won. Kowloon were most unfortunate in losing Knight, but never attained the standard of football that the Surrey set them. A one goal margin would have been a better reflex of the run of the play, for there was very little to choose between the teams, the Surrey finishing better. Duncan cannot be blamed in any way; he brought off several fine saves and was unfortunate with the first goal. Wheeler was easily the best full back on the field. He played a really fine game and was the chief factor in the Kowloon defence. Knight played well until injured and had he not been so unfortunate it is probable that the Kowloon defence would have held the attack and Roberts sent in a good shot from twenty yards which just missed the goal. Hayes had a good chance but missed from close range. Cooper mis-kicked and let in Mason who drove in a hot shot which was well saved by Douglas. Kowloon forced two corners, but both were abortive. The Surrey made a brief attack but Kowloon were soon back again. Hayes secured from near the half-way line and made a splendid run through the Surrey defence. He beat three men in fine style but, with only Douglas to beat, he shot wide, missing the best chance of scoring that Kowloon had. Eaton was fouled but the Surrey's pressure was brief. At the other end Roberts sent in a fine first time drive from Mason's centre. Douglas fumbled the ball, but recovered well and kicked clear. Eaton at the other end drove in a fine shot which hit the side of the net. Knight gave away a free kick just outside the penalty area, but Eaton shot high over. Hayes terminated a Kowloon attack by shooting wide. Hands against Wheeler placed the Kowloon goal in danger. From the free kick Eaton received on the right and sent in a high dropping shot which Duncan turned into his own goal in attempting to clear, putting the soldiers one goal up.

PRESENTATION OF TROPHIES AND MEDALS.

At the close of the game Mrs. James, wife of the Hon. Secretary, handed the Challenge Shield to Q.M.S. Charlesworth, and the runners-up cup to Mr. McKelvie, the respective captains. Gold medals were handed to each player.

Sergeant Bailey, Hon. Secretary of the Garrison Recreation Club, on behalf of the Garrison said they were pleased that the Surrey had won the shield. He hoped the two teams would meet in the final next season.

Mrs. James was then handed bouquets by the captains, and cheers were given for Mrs. James and the teams.

OPEN BILLIARDS CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE COLONY.

R. LUZ v. E. D. DA ROZA.

The above match in the Open Billiards Championship of the Colony was played last night when R. Luz defeated E. D. da Roza by 213 points in a game of 800 up. The highest breaks were:—R. Luz: 20, 46, 35, 35, 24, 20, 20, 31, 23, 20, 32, 31. E. D. da Roza: 31, 32, 20, 23, 24.

TENNIS.

The following matches have been arranged to be played off on the Stand Court this week:—

Tuesday.—Ng Sze Kwong v. T. Honda.
Thursday.—S. H. and S. D. Ismail v. S. E. Green and T. Lay.

Friday.—Ng Sze Kwong and C. Chon v. the winners of Hattersley Smith and Williams v. R. E. Worthington and F. A. Redmond.

The Honda-Ng Sze Kwong match, which was abandoned from last Thursday, when Honda was leading two sets and four all in the third set should draw another large crowd. On Thursday's game Honda should win, but one is never certain of what Ng Sze Kwong is going to do and many seem to think even yet that Honda will have to go all out to win. If Honda wins he will probably have to meet R. E. Worthington in the final, when another interesting match will be provided.

CRICKET.

There were no cricket matches played off on Saturday afternoon, owing to the unfavourable weather conditions. The Hong Kong Cricket Club turned up at King's Park and Kowloon went in to bat, but after about half an hour's play, there was a heavy shower of rain which stopped the match.

SHANGHAI ALLEGED ATTEMPTED MURDER CASE.

SENSATIONAL DEVELOPMENTS.
MRS. ROWARTH IN THE HANDS OF THE HONGKONG POLICE.

Mrs. Rowarth and Mrs. Davis (her daughter) have been handed over to the Hongkong police by the Macao authorities. They were brought back to Hong Kong last night on the s.s. "Sui An," in charge of a European Detective of the Hongkong Police Force.

Mrs. Judith Rowarth was sometime ago tried in H.M. Supreme Court at Shang hai on a charge of attempted murder and acquitted. More recently an accountant named W. H. Goulbourn, has been arrested and charged with having committed perjury in the Rowarth trial, and further, that with others not yet in custody, he conspired, together with Cecilia Sequoia, a Portuguese subject, to defeat the ends of justice by keeping a material witness in hiding and from appearing at the trial of Mrs. Rowarth on a charge of attempted murder.

TERRIBLE BUS ACCIDENT. CRASH ON BRIDGE IN NEW TERRITORIES.

TWO PASSENGERS KILLED: ALL INJURED.

A terrible motor-bus crash occurred in the New Territories, yesterday afternoon, when two motor-buses proceeding in opposite directions, collided on a bridge at Un Lung. Both buses were completely smashed up and two of the passengers have died from injuries. Two more were, as a late hour last night, not expected to live, seven others were more or less seriously injured, whilst practically all the remainder of the passengers suffered from shock and superficial injuries of some sort or another.

BOTH VEHICLES WRECKED.

Both buses belong to the Chun-Hing Motor-bus Company, which operates a bus service from Kowloon to Un Lung, which is just beyond Ping Shan Police Station. They were travelling in opposite directions, the one from Kowloon containing a party of boys, scouts of the 7th Saiyungpau School Troop proceeding to camp at Un Lung. The bus to Kowloon contained a full complement of passengers, about fifteen. The buses met without warning at 2.15 p.m. on Un Lung bridge, which is only wide enough for one. Neither bus could pull up and a terrible crash resulted, in which both vehicles were wrecked. Some of the passengers were pinned underneath the wreckage whilst others were thrown heavily into the road. According to one of the Scoutmasters none of the passengers in the buses escaped injury. He escaped lightly with a black eye and many abrasions on his body. Dr. Small, the Government Medical Officer, who visited the scene some time after the crash, describes the sight as terrible.

BOYS SCOUTS RENDER FIRST AID.

The less seriously injured of the boy scouts, including Scoutmasters K. C. Kong, C. Y. Yiu and Lam Chun, got to work at once and did what they could for the more seriously injured until such time as proper medical help could be obtained. Shortly after the accident another of the Company's buses appeared on the scene and Scoutmaster K. C. Kong proceeded with the bus to a Chinese hospital about a mile or so further along, at Pak Oi hoping to obtain medical aid. The Chinese at the hospital were very courteous, but told the distressed scout that they did not know sufficient to give any practical medical assistance or advice. The bus was then rushed back to the nearest Police Station, presumably Ping Shan, and there reported the matter to the Police Sergeant in Charge and word was sent through to Kowloon.

TWO INJURED SUICIDE.

The scoutmaster collected the "walking" cases from the injuries of both buses and brought them into Kowloon where they were attended to at the Kwong Wah Hospital. The more serious cases were made as comfortable as possible and those left in charge had an anxious wait for Dr. Small and the ambulance from Kowloon. Three arrived some two hours after the accident and all the injured were given attention and brought back into town—the stretcher cases in the ambulance and the remainder by bus. At the Kwong Wah Hospital Dr. Small, with the assistance of Mr. Ip, promptly got to work on the seriously injured, and made arrangements for the less serious cases to be transferred to the Government Civil Hospital. One woman was found to be suffering from a fractured skull and is not expected to live the night. In the case of a boy scout it was found necessary to perform an operation, to stop internal hemorrhage. The lad's only chance to live depended on the operation and last night the Doctors were working hard to save him. This boy's name is Ho. His brother was killed in the accident and another brother slightly injured.

ANXIOUS RELATIVES.

During the evening there were many callers at the hospital, enquiring anxiously after injured relatives. These included an uncle of the three boys mentioned above. When our representative left the hospital the uncle was waiting for an operation to be performed on one of his nephews.

The following is a list of the ten people killed and injured:

INCOMING BUS.
Yung Mui-ku, a girl aged 10 years. Fractured skull. Died on way to Kwong Wah Hospital. (Believed to be a relative of General Yung Sik-lung of Canton).

Li Ng-ku, a woman, aged 30. Seriously injured to thigh and head.
Li Kin, a man, aged 23. Slightly injured. Admitted to Kwong Wah Hospital and later transferred to the Government Civil Hospital.
Lung Ming, a man, aged 22. Said to be motor-bus ticket collector. Admitted to Kwong Wah Hospital with injuries to head. Discharged after treatment.

SHANGHAI WEDDINGS. DUMBARTON-TRUEMAN.

A marriage of much interest to the Shanghai community was celebrated in Holy Trinity Cathedral on March 29th when Miss Nora Trueman, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Trueman, was married to Mr. George Frederick Dumbarton, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dumbarton of Dulwich, England. The Cathedral was beautifully decorated for the occasion with blossoming boughs and bamboo. The ceremony was performed by the Very Rev. Dean Symons.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a gown of white silk lace over georgette, its draperies caught in front with a buckle of orange blossom. The long tulle veil which formed a "train" was fastened with orange blossoms and the bridal bouquet was of pale pink carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Helen Macnaghten wore an effective gown of cyclamen georgette and carried a bouquet of white carnations, roses and orange blossoms. Her sister, Miss Dorothy Rayden, acted as bridesmaid, wearing a white serge dress and white and yellow hat. The bride's mother wore a sand-coloured dress of curly stockette trimmed with green and tan-leather and a dark green hat of georgette and green feathers. Mr. A. M. Howat acted as best man.

TYRRELL-CHAPIN.

A quiet wedding, attended only by the close friends of the bride couple was solemnized at the Carlton when Miss Madeline Chapin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Chapin of Honolulu, became the bride of Mr. Cyril Tyrrell of the Robert Dollar Company. The Rev. C. M. Drury of the Community Church performed the ceremony, which took place in a floral border of green and white. The bride was given away by Mr. George Brush. After the ceremony a reception was held at the Carlton at which Mr. J. Harold Dollar proposed the health of Mr. and Mrs. Tyrrell and a wedding dinner was later given at the Astor House.

MACKINNON-SWEET.

A very pretty wedding was quietly celebrated in Holy Trinity Cathedral, the Very Rev. Dean Symons officiating, when Miss Nora Sweet, daughter of Mrs. F. Rayden, became the bride of Mr. J. M. Mackinnon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mackinnon of Inverlath, Scotland. The bride, who was given away by Mr. F. Rayden, wore a stylish costume of white brided serge with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of white carnations, roses and orange blossoms. Her sister, Miss Dorothy Rayden, acted as bridesmaid, wearing a white serge dress and white and yellow hat. The bride's mother wore a sand-coloured dress of curly stockette trimmed with green and tan-leather and a dark green hat of georgette and green feathers. Mr. A. M. Howat acted as best man.

A pretty Chinese wedding took place on March 29th at the Allen Memorial Church, Dr. F. L. Hawk Pott officiating, when Miss Rose Ng Queen, youngest daughter of Mrs. Ng Queen of Hongkong, was married to Mr. Bang How, secretary of the Commercial Press, Ltd. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Sydney Ng Quinn, wore white charmuse with silver embroidery and chandelier lace, with a train trimmed with white lace and pearls. A crown of orange blossoms fastened the tulle veil and her bouquet was white roses and maiden-hair fern. Her maid of honour, Miss Mary How, wore jade green satin, trimmed with silver lace and carried a bouquet of white carnations, roses and orange blossoms. The bridesmaids, Misses Mabel and Edith Tang, Elsie Tom, S. K. Wu, Mayling Soong, and Leile How, wore georgette gowns of pastel shades and Miss Rene Chur, the little flower girl, wore pink tulle and carried a basket of sweet peas. The bridegroom was accompanied by Mr. H. L. Huang as best man and the page boys were the bride's nephews, Mossy Lai and Mark Wei. After the ceremony a reception was held in the ball room of the Astor House and a dinner was given at the Great Eastern Hotel by Mr. and Mrs. How. How left on their honeymoon. Mrs. Bang How is a graduate of the Wharton School, of Finance and Commerce, University of Pennsylvania.

SHANGHAI AND ITS MERCHANT SEAMEN.

MEMORIAL TO BRITISH MERCHANT MARINE.

SCHEMES FOR TIS. 230,000 INSTITUTE.

The building and endowment of an Institute for Seamen which is also to be a memorial to men of the British Merchant Marine who gave their lives in the war, was resolved upon at the annual meeting of the Missions to Seamen in Shanghai, held on April 1st in the Cathedral Church House. It was announced that his Majesty the King has given the proposals his sympathy and patronage. Mr. Sidney Barton, C.M.G., I.M., Consul-General, presided at the meeting, supported by Dean Symons, the Rev. T. W. Hall, the Mission Chaplain, and Mr. W. A. Willis, the hon. secretary.

Mr. Barton, in opening the meeting, observed that the report for 1923 was of special interest to all who had the welfare of seamen at heart; and these were many, for the subscription list showed the number was not limited to those attending that meeting. Old friends of the Mission had continued their support, and they were once again indebted for very generous assistance from the Race Club. The Chaplain's report was an inspiring account of the work done afloat and ashore and must convince the most sceptical of the immense field for this work there was in Shanghai, and also must convince them of what it was possible for one man with his heart in the work to accomplish with limited resources. The tonnage of Shanghai was increasing at a very rapid rate and already it was now within the number of the world's greatest ports. Obviously, Mr. Hall had not undertaken his Chaplaincy a moment too soon, and it was to his energy they owed the fact that the approach of leaving un-secured men to whom we owed so much was not heavier than it is. The only satisfactory return Shanghai could make to Mr. Hall was to supply him with the means of coping with his work, and an opportunity for this would be given in the proposal to establish a new Seamen's Institute as a memorial to the men of the Merchant Marine who gave their lives in the war. The scheme might seem a big one, but the need was bigger, and it called for the best effort that could be made. (Applause.)

THE SCHEME IN OUTLINE.

The report and accounts having been adopted, DEAN SYMONS outlined and moved the adoption of the Institute scheme, agreed on in principle at the last annual meeting. He first mentioned that subscriptions to the amount of Tis. 1,500 had already been received, almost unasked for, and said it was a scheme which should undoubtedly appeal to the residents of Shanghai. It was proposed to erect the Institute by voluntary subscription as a memorial to British merchant seamen who fell in the war. The Committee had taken the bold step of sending to his Majesty the King to ask if he would kindly give his patronage, and through the Secretary of the Privy Purse the following message was received: "The King sincerely sympathizes with the excellent object you have in view" and the local representatives of his Majesty—Sir Ronald Macleay, British Minister, Admiral Leveson, Commander-in-Chief on the China Station, and Mr. Sidney Barton, H.M. Consul-General—had given the proposal their cordial approval. The scheme, therefore, was well laid, and started on its way with the prospect of receiving worthy support. As an instance of the great need for such an institute, the Dean quoted figures indicating Shanghai's growing importance in the shipping world. In 1920, he said, London had a tonnage of 17,000,000, Liverpool 16,500,000, and Shanghai 12,000,000 (increased last year to 15,000,000); there were some 50 shipping companies represented in Shanghai, interested in 600 vessels aggregating about 6,000,000 tons actual capacity, while during 1922, the number of British ocean vessels which put in at Shanghai was 457. Allowing an average stay of four days for these steamers, and an average complement of 30 men, this meant there were 136,200 men in port every day of the year, whilst in addition, there were 600 officers and engineers of the coastal shipping fleet.

WHAT THE INSTITUTE WILL DO.

The reasons for establishing the institute were to give the men the change of environment which was necessary for their bodily and mental well-being; to introduce them to the right kind of people who shall remind them of home and for which it stands; to afford them rest, quietness and spiritual help; and to give them entertainment and recreation. The work of the Mission was ever growing, and its present machinery was altogether too inadequate, so that an institute was absolutely essential. The rough plans provided for social rooms for officers and seamen, reading rooms, billiard rooms, concert hall, Chapel, and Chaplain's flat, and the building would be so added if found necessary.

Tentative inquiries showed that Tis. 30,000 would be required for purchasing the necessary land, whilst the building was estimated to cost Tis. 80,000, furniture Tis. 10,000, and extras Tis. 10,000. As it would be necessary to endow such an institution, Tis. 120,000 had been estimated as necessary for investment to bring in an annual income of Tis. 4,000. Thus the total estimated cost was Tis. 220,000. This might seem to some people to be an almost impossible scheme, and perhaps it might take some few years to accomplish, but surely, in a place of the size and importance of Shanghai, it might be regarded as comparatively a small sum, especially emphasizing the

THE POISON TRIAL.

JURY EXCUSED FOR FIVE YEARS.

We are informed that Mr. Justice Compton has released the Jury which sat last week on the Lantao poison trial from further jury service for a period of five years. At the conclusion of the trial His Lordship thanked the Jurors for their careful consideration of the case and released them for two years. This period of release has now been increased by a further three years.

The jury empanelled for the case comprised Messrs. M. Pollock, J. Edgar, C. L. Facker, Ma Wai Man, F. J. Wakefield, W. S. Marsh and Leung Chi Ling.

PIRACY GUARDS.

BRITISH SOLDIERS REPLACED.

The scheme whereby British soldiers were used for the protection of convoys of British river steamers against pirates has practically been dropped after a brief trial. The British troops are said to have been replaced by Indians. Lewis guns are still carried on the river boats "mopbering" the convoys and specially trained Indians are on board to work these guns. These Indians are in charge of European Police Officers.

ANOTHER PIRACY.

PORTUGUESE STEAMER THIS TIME.

On the arrival of the s.s. Sui An last evening from Macao we were informed that a Portuguese steamer, the s.s. Sriyal, was pirated on Saturday. Three of the watchmen were killed by the pirates whilst the master of the vessel, Captain Assis, and the Engineer, Mr. Jorge, were wounded. The Macao authorities have sent out armed launches, manned with soldiers, in search of the pirates.

spirit of the scheme as a memorial to men whose war record made some of the finest history that had been written. (Applause.)

THE HANBURY INSTITUTE.

Mr. E. F. MACKEY said there was one point on which he was in some doubt. As a Trustee of the Hanbury Institute, he was not quite sure what functions the Hanbury Institute was going to fulfil if a scheme on the scale of the one outlined was going to be carried through. As far as he recollected, the Hanbury Institute had been established for just the purposes the Dean had described. The Rev. T. W. HALL in reply to Mr. Mackay, said that in 1908 the Hanbury Institute amalgamated with the Sailors' Home in Broadway, and when the scheme was drawn up the following stipulations were made: that sleeping accommodation should be found for 40 men of the Merchant Service, for 20 bluejackets, and for 10 or a dozen destitute seamen, or others, giving a total of 72. And this was what the Hanbury Institute was, viz., a boarding house, and one fulfilling its purpose very well. But the new scheme was not at all for a boarding house. That was a purpose it was hoped the Hanbury Institute would continue to fulfil for many years to come.

Mr. MACKEY went on to say that he was not speaking against the scheme, but merely, as a Trustee of the Hanbury Institute, drawing attention to the fact that the objects of the new scheme were essentially the same as those laid down by Sir Thomas Hanbury when he founded the Institute. Sleeping accommodation was provided, but it was never intended the Hanbury Institute should be merely a boarding house, and he mentioned this because, as a Trustee, he did not wish the point to be passed over without notice.

POOR RICHARD'S PARADISE.

Mr. BARTON: You don't suggest that the existence of the Hanbury Institute, whatever its functions are, is sufficient to minimize in any way the requirement of a new Institute. Personally, I do not think the Hanbury Institute could possibly cope with the requirements of the present day as far as the Merchant Marine is concerned.

Mr. MACKEY: I think not. Mr. BARTON: Then there is also the point that the Hanbury Institute is bound to receive the destitute, and that is another reason for founding a new institute, for it is hardly a compliment to share the place with the destitute.

Mr. MACKEY mentioned that he had heard the Hanbury Institute described as "a place for dead beats," but it certainly never was intended to be so.

Mr. BARTON: It is probably one of the nicest places "dead beats" are ever likely to strike. The fact is, I think, that the Hanbury Institute will continue to discharge its functions exactly as it does to-day, and that it will always be just as full. I do not think there is any possibility of the two Institutes competing with each other or clashing in any way.

The Rev. T. W. HALL seconded the Dean's proposal that the scheme be formally adopted, and the resolution was unanimously carried.

COMMITTEE AND SUBSCRIBERS.

In addition to the ex-officio members, the following were appointed to the Committee: Messrs. D. W. A. Holder, R. Pote-Hunt, G. F. A. Mulock, P. H. Rolfe, T. H. R. Shaw, E. S. Wilkinson, H. V. Wilkinson, W. A. Willis and W. E. Wilson.

The CHAPLAIN proposed a cordial vote of thanks to the subscribers, mentioning that several firms and individuals had doubled their subscriptions and many others had increased theirs, the total last year being Tis. 3,000 as against Tis. 1,700 in the previous year.

EXAGGERATED HOPES IN CANTON.

"The beginning of the end" is the caption given to a leading article in our Chinese contemporary, the Canton Gazette, relating to the military situation in the province of Kwangtung. Reviewing recent co-related developments in other provinces our contemporary comes to the conclusion that the end of the struggle in Kwangtung is near at hand. We should like to be able to share our contemporary's optimism. Its readers are told that Wu Pei-fu's right-hand man in Fukien has lost control of that province; that General CHENG CHI-CHING, who is working in co-operation with Dr. SUN, is winning and firmly establishing his position; that the loss of Cheong-chow and other important places in the southern part of Fukien has threatened the rear of CHEN CHUNG-CHING's forces; that CHEN and his Generals fully realize that they are virtually between the "devil and the deep sea," as is proved by their hurried conferences and their decision to withdraw their forces from the East River "in order to protect Swatow, a port which they cannot afford to lose, for the loss of it means the cutting off of their communications with the outside world." Concurrently with this, Generalissimo SUN YAT SEN has been throwing all available troops into the East River region for the purpose of dealing to the enemy "a blow that will end the struggle." We do not know how many dozens of times we have been led by our contemporary during the past twelve months, or even in the past four months, to expect news of this "smashing blow" at any moment. We rather from our contemporary that there are some two hundred thousand of Dr. SUN's troops in the field in the East River district "fresh in strength and well prepared for a long and very hard fight." If it be true that CHEN's forces are withdrawing from the East River district, the prospect of the "great attack" by SUN's Army would rather seem to be becoming remote. However, if SUN's Army in Fukien is meeting with all the success ascribed to it, the obvious intention of Dr. SUN in so greatly strengthening his army in the East River is to crush CHEN's army, by a simultaneous advance of two great bodies of troops upon his front and rear. But CHEN is too much of a strategist to place his troops in such obvious danger, and we shall believe in the annihilation of his forces only when it has been definitely accomplished. At present we have no confidence in the restoration of peace that our Chinese contemporary forecasts. "Cheerily optimistic, our contemporary says: 'Travelling in the country is now not safe, but with the hostilities successfully brought to an end sufficient attention and protection will be forthcoming. When normal conditions are restored, trade and other commercial activities will automatically return to the benefit of our merchants. Various schemes for municipal improvements, such as the opening of more roads, establishing more municipal schools and libraries, laying out public parks and playgrounds, will then all be possible. Such improvements are demanded by the public, but they cannot be very well carried out if available funds must continually go to the military. As long as there is war on hand the demands for funds on its account must be met. Therefore, the war in the province must be brought to an end in order to stop the flow of funds into that channel, so that they may be used for public improvements. This is the time to end this war, and all should rally to give support to the Generalissimo so that its end may be hastened.' All this is excellent in its way, but we have to bear in mind that there are two parties to the war, and one of them is led by the great military panjandrum of the Yangtze whose resources in men, money and material are likely to long outlast those of Generalissimo SUN. However much we may deplore the fact, it is hardly possible to believe that if Dr. SUN succeeded now in driving CHEN CHUNG-CHING's forces completely out of the province, peace would be at once 'firmly established.' So long as Marshal Wu Pei-fu is committed to the policy of 'Reconciliation by force,' so long will the province of Kwangtung remain in a state of turmoil; or so long, at least, will the Government at Canton see the necessity for maintaining in the field the enormous forces necessary to guard the province from invasion by a potentially more powerful enemy. Thus, the money which is admittedly so greatly needed for ordinary administrative purposes will still be swallowed up in military expenses until the war lords of China can be brought to realise the folly of this internecine strife and seek some saner solution of their quarrels at a Round Table Conference. We quite understand that a signal success by Dr. SUN's forces in Kwangtung might serve to weaken Wu Pei-fu's hopes of success for his policy of reunification by force, but, if we are not woefully mistaken in our estimate of the man, one defeat in Kwangtung will not be sufficient to persuade him to finally abandon the policy.

A "miniature typhoon" was experienced at Foochow on the 2nd inst.

The road commencing at the Pokfulam Road passing through the Dairy Farm property, crossing Victoria Road has been named Sassoon Road.

In accordance with instructions received from the Secretary of State for the Colonies, H.E. the Governor has been pleased to recognise Mr. Maurice Walk as a Vice-Consul for the United States of America in Hongkong.

The Japan Chronicle mentions that the cherry-blossom season will be later than usual this year. The trees near Kobe are not expected to reach their full glory till the end of April, though in warm places around the port they may be at their best soon after mid-month.

Neglect to properly maintain the track has been the cause of the derailment of trains on the Canton-Hankow railway (in Kwangtung) on several occasions. Conditions have apparently become so bad that the Canton Gazette says: "It is feared that unless funds are obtained to repair the line, the railwaymen may not be willing to risk their lives running the trains."

Mr. A. G. W. Tickle, Executive Engineer, Public Works Department, has been deputed to act on behalf of the Building Authority in all cases referred to in sections 203, 204, 207 and 207A of the Public Health and Building Ordinance, 1908, in connection with dangerous buildings. Mr. H. J. Pearce, Engineer, Public Works Department, has been deputed to act on behalf of the Building Authority in all cases in connection with dangerous buildings.

Mr. Drummond, second officer of the Douglas steamer Hui Hong had to be taken off the ship to hospital at Nampo (Foochow) on the last trip. Dr. Gillette, the medical officer in charge diagnosed his trouble as acute appendicitis, making an operation necessary. Mr. Drummond, who was for some time Captain of the Hui Hong, has been upwards of twenty-five years in local waters, and has his home in Kowloon. His brother officers and a wide circle of friends hope for his speedy recovery.

Mr. W. McClelland, C.B., O.B.E., M.I.E.E., Director of Electrical Engineering, and Mr. J. S. Pringle, O.B.E., M.I.E.E., Assistant Director of Dockyards, are due in Hongkong by the Phoebe on the 17th inst. They are on a visit from the Admiralty. Travelling on the same ship is Mr. G. D. Loya, M.I.E.E., Superintending Electrical Engineer, H.M. Naval Yard, who has been transferred from a similar post at Rosyth and relieves Mr. H. A. Nott, M.B.E., M.I.E.E., who has been appointed Superintending Electrical Engineer, H.M. Dockyard, Sheerness.

FOURTH TOURIST SHIP OF THE SEASON.

S.S. "SAMARIA'S" VISIT.

The Cunard liner Samaria, of 20,000 tons register (Commander G. S. Hornburgh, O.B.E., R.D., R.N.R.) arrived in harbour last Saturday morning with about 100 tourists aboard. This is the second time that Samaria has been chartered by Messrs. Thomas Cook & Son for a world cruise. She is the fourth great touring ship to visit Hongkong this season. Unlike the other ships the Samaria has come via Suez, so that her company has already "done" Madeira, Gibraltar, Algiers, Naples, Egypt, India, Ceylon, the Straits Settlements and Manila. The ship proceeds on Wednesday to Shanghai, Japan, San Francisco, and via the Panama Canal, to Havana and New York, the port of embarkation.

Most of the travellers are Americans, and they include some well-known personages in the States, such as Mr. R. E. Olds, head of the Oldsmobile Company; Col. Woodford, of Connecticut, proprietor of the Litchfield Enquirer; Mr. Charles K. Payne, a prominent business magnate of West Virginia; Mr. Strauss, a New York banker and one of the directors and trustees of the Rockefeller Foundation; Mr. Kin Hubbard, of the Indianapolis News, who is a well-known writer in the United States under the nom de plume of Abe Martin.

Included in the British contingent of travellers are a few literary folk, some merchants and manufacturers, mostly retired, and one or two medical men.

The arrangements for the tour this year as last, are in the hands of Mr. Ross Skinner, Cruise Director. During their stay in Hongkong the tourists have followed the usual procedure, some going to Canton, others for automobile rides around the New Territories and around the Island, whilst various small parties spent their time in wandering casually about Hongkong, admiring the statues, buildings and shops. On Saturday evening there was a specially-arranged dinner-dance at the Hongkong Hotel. Despite the unfavourable weather, the local arrangements made by Messrs. Thomas Cook & Son enabled the visitors to get an idea of the scenic beauties of the Colony and to imagine how greatly they would have been enhanced by a little sunshine.

The Samaria leaves Yokohama on the 20th inst. to cross the Pacific. She is due to arrive at New York on June 3rd.

Serious trouble broke out at the cotton mills in connection with the workers' wages bonus. Mill hands indulged in stone-throwing and general rowdiness, and the police fired on them. Three people were killed, and thirty-four wounded.

FRENCH PENSIONS' BILL.

PARIS, April 5th.
In the Chamber the Pensions Bill was passed in its entirety by a show of hands. M. Poincare stated that the Government desired to achieve an absolute and complete balancing of the Budget and would not sanction any increase in expenditure or spend a centime over its resources. The decree laws would only be utilised to carry out economies.

EARLIER CABLES.

PROTECTING THE MARK.

TAXATION OF GERMAN TRAVELLERS.

Berlin, April 4th.
The Government has at length taken steps to check the exodus of Germans who, since marks were stabilised, have been living in luxury in foreign health resorts. A decree has been signed by President Ebert which states that only two hundred gold marks may be taken out of the country, and every German traveller must pay a tax of five hundred gold marks except in the case of readers.

One of the main reasons for this is the fact that 70,000 Germans are at present in Italy, spending roughly thirty-five million reutenmarks monthly many accepting three instead of the official six Italian lire for one reutenmark, thus endangering the latter's stability. The decree is criticised as not affecting the rich but interfering with the holidays of the middle-class desiring to journey abroad.

FRENCH GOVERNMENT.

A SUCCESSFUL "TEST VOTE."

PARIS, April 4th.
Voting as a question of confidence in the Government, the Chamber rejected a Radical amendment to the Pensions Bill by 227 to 201. It was a test vote on the same issue which caused the defeat of the late Government on March 26th. The present majority affords a truer reflex of the Government's position than last night's vote on the Ruhr policy, for which M. Poincare has invariably secured a thumping majority.

LOSS OF THE "FRANGESTAN".

VIVID DESCRIPTION OF THE BURNING SHIP.

PORT SAID, April 4th.

Sir Derrick Watson, Bart., a passenger on the s.s. Frangestan, interviewed by Reuters gave a thrilling narrative of what occurred when the ship was on fire. He said that when the wireless operator woke him up with the alarm of fire, he regarded it as a joke and went to bed. He rose and found the passengers mustered on the deck watching smoke rising from the ventilators. Even then he did not think the matter serious, but later the smoke increased and it became obvious that the ship could not be controlled. When the flames spread, an aged pilgrim offered his small vessel of holy water, confident it could quell the furnace. Meanwhile the Frangestan was communicating by wireless with some forty-seven ships. When the s.s. Clan Macleod arrived, the European passengers were first transferred, then the pilgrims and their baggage. Night fell before the transfer was completed. The smoke was then rising in dense clouds. A Russian ship, standing by, turned its searchlights on the Frangestan, and disclosed an eerie spectacle of a smoking ship surrounded by swarms of hungry sharks, led by a pilot fish. The crew remained aboard, and the wireless operator, despite the oppressive heat and smoke, stuck to his cabin until just before the captain ordered the crew to abandon the ship. The flames spread from forward, devouring first the colour and then the barge under the bridge, on which the captain was standing at his post. The ship listed heavily, settling by the head. So intense was the heat that the steel plates fell off the scales, leaving a skeleton silhouette against a blazing furnace. The s.s. Frangestan's lights were sighted at ten in the evening. It was by then impossible for the captain to remain. As he departed he paused on the gangway to light a cigarette, and simultaneously the gangway caught fire. The proceedings throughout were very orderly. None of the passengers' effects were lost, and all are little the worse for the experience. (The s.s. Frangestan is owned by Mr. H. M. H. Nemaaz of Hongkong and was commanded by Capt. W. J. Reynolds, formerly of Hongkong.)

JAPANESE STEAMER IN DANGER.

HEAVY LIST OWING TO SHIFTING CARGO.

SYDNEY, April 4th.
The Japanese steamer Hanabusa Maru from Melbourne bound for Sydney, has wireless that she is dangerously ailing, saying the vessel has heeled over too much and is in a dangerous condition. Several steamers are going to her assistance, and a tug has been sent from Sydney. The vessel is making little headway. The captain does not wish to leave the ship, and the British warship Danube is standing by.

LABOUR MEMBER'S CRITICISM OF THE GOVERNMENT.

GOVERNMENT BY "JELLYFISH."

LONDON, April 4th.
In the House of Commons, Mr. Clynes "let out doubts regarding a Government way out of the inaction in which it has found itself as regards the Evictions Bill. He stated the Government had proposed to submit amendments to Clause One in committee, providing that, before the Court makes an order for possession in case of non-payment of rent it shall first be satisfied that the tenant had a reasonable opportunity of obtaining relief from the local poor law authorities. He was advised that such an amendment would be within the scope of the present Bill, and did not require a money resolution, therefore the Government proposed to take the Bill at the first business on Monday.

After some Liberal and Conservative criticism of the proposed proceedings, Mr. Kirkwood (Labour) stated Opposition laughter and cheers in a satirical speech in which he described the Government as jellyfish calling themselves Socialists. He said the time had come for the Government to prove its usefulness. Tenants were threatened with eviction, particularly in Scotland, and parish councils were already over-burdened. The Government should say whether it intended to introduce a Bill to reorganise them. Mr. Clynes replied that the charge on the Ministry must first be met through the local authorities. He said there was nothing to indicate that the Government was opposed to reorganising them from State funds.

A QUEENSLAND LOAN IN GREAT BRITAIN.

A LOAN CONVERSION SCHEME.

LONDON, April 4th.
The first Queensland Loan issued in England since December, 1919, is being underwritten, for conversion of the 3½ per cent. 1924 Loan of £1,765,000, and also the 4 per cent. Loan of £7,950,000 due on July 1st. Holders of these loans are offered in exchange 5 per cent. incised stock, 1924 to 1929, on cash payment of ten shillings per cent. Applications will be received at 9½ per cent. on payment of ten per cent. on application and 5½ on July 1st. This is a sequel to the success of the efforts by Mr. Theodore, Queensland's Socialist Premier, to raise the embargo on Queensland loans since the passage of the Queensland Pastoral Leases Act in 1920, which British financial concerns having large property holdings complained was inimical to their interests. Concessions made by Mr. Theodore with regard to this offending statute have removed all differences.

SINO-RUSSIAN NEGOTIATIONS.

CHINESE SUGGESTIONS INACCEPTABLE.

PEKING, April 6th.
M. Karakhan has received a reply from Moscow regarding Dr. Wellington Koo's note of April 1st. It is understood that it amounts to a refusal to accept the Chinese suggestions. M. Karakhan has not yet communicated the contents of the Note to the Waichiao, and there is reason to believe that further communications are passing between M. Karakhan and Moscow. In the meantime, it is reported that M. Karakhan will visit Canton prior to returning to Moscow, if the negotiations finally terminate; but it seems likely that further efforts will be made before he acknowledges complete failure.

the standpoint of their policies in the Far East. If these Governments are in agreement, the same spirit should be carried out by the private citizens of both countries in China. A full and frank spirit of co-operation on the part of Americans and Britons was certain to be productive of good to all concerned in a country where active constructive leadership is greatly needed.

Touching China's political situation, the Report says that while all are agreed in principle to the political and administrative integrity of China and that the country should be given the fullest opportunity for self-development, the fact remains that 90 per cent. of the people are illiterate, and therefore, China could not expect to occupy a position in world affairs until her standard of civilisation has reached a higher level. Meanwhile, the country required the friendly assistance of outside nations; otherwise, she would become a menace to the world generally. The solution of the problems facing the Chinese people rested in the hands of the educated and business classes, and a lasting improvement could not be achieved until these classes took a firm hand in the administration of the country.

SINO-RUSSIAN NEGOTIATIONS.

WAICHAOUP'S DENIAL OF FRENCH INTERFERENCE.

RUSSIAN MISSION PUBLISHES FRENCH NOTE.

PEKING, March 4th.
In prefacing the publication of the Note from H.E. M. Fleuriat, French Ambassador to Peking, to the Waichiao regarding the Russian Concession at Hankow (the first report of which appeared in the Far Eastern Times), the Roda says, in connection with the official denial by the Waichiao regarding the French Note of March 20th to the Soviet Mission, that the French Legation communicated the Note to Mr. Karakhan through the French Military Attaché. The Mission fully appreciates M. Fleuriat's personal courtesy, but holds a different opinion regarding this step of the French Legation. There is no doubt that France, having sent a second Note regarding Russo-Chinese relations, endeavours practically to obstruct a rapprochement between Russia and China.

The French Minister's Note says:—
"I feel it my duty to invite the attention of the Chinese Government to the status of the Russian Concession at Hankow. The territory in this Concession was originally part of the territory which the Chinese authorities in 1894 promised to France, but by virtue of an agreement between China, France and Russia in 1905 it was divided between the French and Russian Concessions."

"According to general usages, the agreements thus entered upon cannot be modified without the consent of all the parties concerned. As early as October 8th, 1920, the French Consul, on the strength of instructions received by his Legation, drew the attention of the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs to this matter, who probably communicated same to the Waichiao. The position of the Hankow Concession at Hankow cannot be changed without the consent of the French Government. Therefore, beforehand I make reservations regarding all stipulations affecting the territories of the Russian Concession at Hankow which could take place between China and Russia without the French Government being consulted."

The Waichiao's denial was given on the morning of April 2nd, and the Far Eastern Times carries to-day a statement by the Secretary of the Waichiao to the effect that M. Fleuriat personally handed the above Note to the Vice-Minister for Foreign Affairs on the evening of April 2nd. The Far Eastern Times comments caustically that the Governmental institutions are issuing blank denials without being aware of the true facts.

MACAO NOTES.

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

COMMEMORATION OF THE BATTLE OF LYS.
On the 6th of April Macao will commemorate the anniversary of the Battle of Lys which took place during the Great War. In this famous battle the Portuguese forces, at enormous sacrifice, held back the advancing Germans till the British and the French brought up reinforcements. The casualties of the Portuguese were very great, but they withstood all the onslaughts of the enemy. The battle is commemorated because it was the occasion of many deaths of heroes on the part of the Portuguese soldiers. H.E. the Governor has invited all the residents to attend a parade in the morning, and a service in the evening.

ATHLETICS.

The Royal Own Athletic Club of Hongkong, is sending a team of athletes to Macao during the Easter holidays to participate in a meeting organized at their request. At the Club de Macao a special dance is being arranged for Saturday, the last, in honour of the visitors. A billiard contest will also be arranged if the time will permit.

THE FISHING INDUSTRY.

A shortage of fish is still being experienced. The cause can probably be traced to the use of nets of exceptionally small mesh. The result of the use of these nets is, first, to raise the larger fish to sea, and, secondly, by the catching of small fry they prevent the development of the species. The Chinese authorities should take steps to their advantage to conserve the small fry. The fishing industry is one of great importance to Macao.
